Climate, Exports and Imports.] Sweden has an inhospitable climate, and the greater part of the soil is barren; upwards of 110 000 square miles lie uncultivated. Yet the industry of the inhabitants in arts and agriculture, has raifed it to the rank of a fecondary European power. Sweden imports 300,000 tons of corn, and 4,535 hogsheads of spirituous liquors, besides hemp, flax, falt, wine, beef, filk, paper, leather, and East and West-India goods. The exports of Sweden confift chiefly of wood, pitch, tar, fish, furs, copper, iron, some gold and filver, and other minerals, to the amount, in the year 1768, of upwards of 13 millions of dollars; and their imports in the same year amounted to little more than 10 millions of dollars. The Swedes trade to all parts of Europe, to the Levant, the East and West-Indies, to Africa and China. Government.
